

Airborne Supply

Under the standard rules, Airborne Platoons dropped behind the lines must trace Supply back to their Headquarters like all other units. This often leads to them being out of Supply after their initial assault.

Airborne units on the Battlefield are considered to be in supply as long as the Airborne Drop card is in play. However, the cost of actions that require Supply (refit, assaults, etc...) are doubled if the unit cannot trace a Supply line back to its Headquarters.